

Rose Hollermann

On August 10, 2001 my mom, my three brothers and I were in a tragic car accident outside of our home in Elysian Minnesota. The accident left me partly paralyzed from the waist down and took the lives of my two brothers. Shortly after my accident, while doing therapy, I was introduced to swimming at Courage Center. From there I got started with sled hockey, track and field, archery, tennis, cross country skiing, and most importantly wheelchair basketball.

Wheelchair basketball is the sport that has brought me around the world, literally. In 2011, I became one of the youngest people to ever make a USA basketball team at 15 years old. In 2012, I was given an even bigger honor, attending the 2012 London Paralympics! I was recently named to the 2014 world team and will be participating in the games in June.
